

Young people's experiences of physical activity programmes to support emotional wellbeing

Information and Consent form

What's the research about?

The Active Essex Foundation works with community organisations who provide different kinds of help and support for people who need it, including children and young people.

We are doing some research to understand children's emotional wellbeing and physical activity levels, and to see if there are links between the two things.

Why is it important we hear from your child or young person?

The things your child or young person shares will help us to understand how best to help and support children and young people who need it, and how to improve things for the future.

What would you like my child or young person to do?

We would like to ask your child or young person to take part in this work. This will involve them completing a survey about how long they have been attending the club/session, how they are feeling, and how much physical activity they do.

Do I have to take part?

Your child or young person does not have to take part. They can change their mind about taking part at any time before or during their activities and they will be able to opt-out of answering any questions they do not want to answer.

How will you use what I tell you?

We will review survey responses from your child or young person and what others have told us. This will be used to help improve support for children and young people in the future.

Confidentiality and anonymity

Your child or young person's survey answers will be kept confidential. This means we won't share them with anyone outside of the Active Essex Foundation project team. We will not use their name or anything that can identify them in anything we report on. Aggregated and anonymised data will be shared with the Centre for Mental Health (our evaluation partner), but they will not see individual responses.

If your child or young person tells us something that makes us think they or someone else is not safe, we may have to tell somebody else so that we can make sure they are okay.

Who can I contact for further information?

For more information you can contact Sian Cleary, Active Essex Foundation Sport and Youth Mental Health Project Coordinator: sian.cleary@activeessex.org
